Three teams will make their first appearance in Death Valley, including first-year ACC member Louisville, according to the 2014 Clemson football schedule announced by the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Overall the Tigers will face nine teams that had winning records and eight squads that played in bowl games during the 2013 season. Five of those programs, Louisville, South Carolina, Florida State, Syracuse and North Carolina, won bowl games. The slate also includes three teams that won at least 11 games and finished in the top-15 of both polls (Florida State, Louisville and South Carolina).

"This schedule allows us to compete to reach the College Football Playoff," said Clemson Head Coach Dabo Swinney. "It is a challenging schedule from the beginning. We play at Georgia and at Florida State within the first three games.

"On paper, based on last year's results, it looks to be more difficult than last year. Louisville was a 12-1 team ranked in the final top-15 and North Carolina finished strong winning six of its last seven games." Louisville and North Carolina replace Maryland and Virginia on the ACC portion of Clemson's schedule.

"Playing Georgia and South Carolina from the SEC certainly makes it difficult from a non-conference standpoint."

Clemson will have two weeks to prepare for Florida State as the Tigers have an open date on September 13 prior to the September 20 showdown. Clemson is 10-0 the last two years under Swinney with at least eight days to prepare for the next opponent.

For the fifth consecutive year, Clemson will play two non-conference games against SEC teams, the third straight year Clemson will open and close the regular season with teams from that league. The Tigers travel to Athens, Ga. to face Georgia on August 30 for the season opener, then will finish the regular season November 29 with a home game against South Carolina. It will be just the second time since 1958 Clemson has played on that date. The only other time was in 2008 when the Tigers defeated the Gamecocks, 31-14.

Clemson will play two non-conference opponents to open the season and will close the season with two non-conference foes. This will be the fifth consecutive year Clemson plays all eight of its ACC games consecutively.

The slate includes 11 Saturday games and one Thursday night game, at Wake Forest on November 6. Clemson has won five consecutive games played on days other than Saturday, including bowl wins over top 10 teams to conclude each of the last two seasons. The Tigers have won three consecutive Thursday night games, including two years ago at Wake Forest.

Clemson opens the 2014 season at Georgia on August 30, tied for the earliest start to a season in Clemson history. Clemson defeated a fifth-ranked Georgia team at Death Valley last year in one of the top college games of the year, 38-35. Clemson has lost three in a row in Athens and has not won in Sanford Stadium since David Treadwell's 46-yard field goal on the last play of the game gave Danny Ford's team a 31-28 victory in 1986.

Clemson opens its home schedule against South Carolina State on September 6. It will be the second consecutive year the Bulldogs have played at Clemson. Last year, South Carolina State finished with a 9-4 record and reached the FCS playoffs.

Two weeks later, Clemson will be play defending national champion Florida State. It will be the earliest meeting on the calendar between the two schools in Tallahassee since 2006 when the Tigers last won there, a 27-20 victory on a last-minute touchdown by James Davis.

The winner of the Clemson vs. Florida State game has gone on to win the ACC Atlantic Division each of the last five years.

North Carolina comes to Clemson on September 27th for the first of three straight ACC games in Memorial Stadium, the first time that has happened since 1991. Each of the last two appearances for North Carolina in Death Valley, the Tigers have celebrated a reunion for its 1981 National Championship team and the Clemson team has responded by scoring 110 total points. No reunion is scheduled this year. Clemson has won four of the last five against the Tar Heels, including three in a row at Death Valley.

Clemson will welcome another school from the Tar Heel state, the NC State Wolfpack, the following Saturday. This will be the first time Clemson has played North Carolina and NC State at home in consecutive games. Clemson has won nine of the last 10 in the series, with the Wolfpack including five in a row at home since Philip Rivers and company defeated the Tigers at Memorial Stadium in 2002.

Louisville's first trip to Clemson concludes the homestand on October 11. Marshall (1999) and Miami (FL) (2005) are the only programs to win their first game in Clemson Memorial Stadium since 1977.

Clemson returns to the road for the first time in 28 days when the Tigers play at Boston College on October 18. The Tigers have a 5-4 lead in the series since the Eagles joined the conference for the 2005 season. This year's game will be the 10th time the two schools play for the O'Rourke-McFadden Trophy.

For the second consecutive home game, a first-time visitor to Death Valley is on the schedule as the Syracuse Orange come to Clemson. It will be Clemson's last home ACC game of the year. Clemson won its first game in the Carrier Dome this past season.

Clemson's next game is on a Thursday night at Wake Forest, the third time since 2008 that Clemson has played in Winston-Salem on a Thursday night. The Tigers will face a Demon Deacons team led by first-year coach Dave Clawson, the only first-year coach Clemson will face this year.

On November 15, Clemson wraps up its ACC slate at Georgia Tech. The Tigers have beaten the Yellow Jackets each of the last two years, but have not won at Tech since 2003.

Clemson concludes the regular season with home games against first-time opponent Georgia State and state rival South Carolina. It is just the second time since 2006 that Clemson has finished the regular season with consecutive home games.

National media face a dilemma when attempting to evaluate the returning personnel for the 2014 Clemson football team. Are the Tigers rebuilding, or are they a veteran team?

Clemson must replace a 3,000-yard passer, a 1,400-yard receiver and a 1,000-yard rusher as Dabo Swinney prepares for his sixth full season as leader of the Tigers program. Gone are All-America quarterback Tajh Boyd and his 57 schools records, All-America wide receiver Sammy Watkins and his 20 records, and All-ACC running back Rod McDowell and his 1025 rushing yards and 5.4 yards per carry average.

Clemson returns offensive players who accounted for just 19.8 percent of the total offense, 11 percent of the passing offense, 36.5 percent of the rushing offense, 41.2 percent of the reception yardage and 39.3 percent of the scoring.

Additionally, Swinney must find a replacement for receiver Martavis Bryant, who averaged 19.7 yards per reception on 42 catches, the best average in the nation among players with at least 40 catches, and two-time first-team All-ACC tackle Brandon Thomas. Tyler Shatley, a third-team all-conference guard, will also be missed.

Defensively, the Tigers must find two new linebackers to plug holes with the efficiency of second-leading tackler Spencer Shuey (119 tackles and four fumbles recoveries), and Quandon Christian, a three-year starter who had 49 tackles last year, including eight behind the line of scrimmage.

Cornerback Darius Robinson had an outstanding senior year with 37 tackles and three interceptions, while Bashaud Breeland turned professional after a junior year in which he had 74 tackles and four interceptions. They were both big reasons Clemson ranked in the top 20 in the nation in pass defense and completion percentage defense.

On the other hand, Clemson returns 19 senior scholarship players, the most in the Swinney era. There are 12 players on the 2014 roster who have played at least 35 games and 17 who have played at least 30. Fifteen of the 19 seniors have been starters at some point during their careers.

That senior class has helped bring Clemson to a new level of consistent winning. The 2014 seniors already have 32 wins in the bank (32-8), and they need just eight wins to tie the school record for victories by a senior class. It would be just the second 40-win class in school history, the first since the seniors of 1990.

The group has recorded eight wins over top 25 teams, including five top-10 victories. That includes top-10 wins in bowl games in each of the last two years, the only school in the nation that can make that claim.

Overall, 56 lettermen return for 2014, 25 offensive players, 27 defensive players and four special teamers.

"College football goes in cycles, obviously, because of the limitations on years of eligibility," said Swinney. "While we lost some very celebrated skill position people, players who set over 100 records on offense, and some productive, consistent team leaders on defense, we do have 39 returning junior and senior scholarship players who have helped us win 32 games the last three years. They have experienced winning.

"A few years ago people said we were awful along the front seven on defense and now these same guys are two years older and people are saying we might have one of the best defensive lines in the nation.

"Going into this year we have lost our quarterback, top two receivers and top running back, so people are wondering how we will be on offense. That is just the way things go in this game. Every year there are opportunities for players to step up on both sides of the ball.

"I am excited to coach this team because it will be the most veteran team I have had. This will be the most juniors and seniors I have had on a roster. The last two years combined we have had just 21 total scholarship seniors. This year we have 19.

"My biggest concerns would be developing depth at the offensive tackle position, getting the young wide receivers up to speed, and replacing the consistency of Chandler Catanzaro as placekicker. He made 39 of his last 41 field goals since 2011 and many of them from long distance and in the clutch."

Offense (4 returning starters, 25 returning lettermen)

The talk of the media when discussing the Clemson football team this preseason will surround the selection of Tajh Boyd's successor at quarterback. They are big shoes to fill, as Boyd started all 40 Clemson games between 2011 and 2013, winning 32 of them. That included eight wins over top 25 teams, including wins over LSU, Florida State, Auburn (twice), Georgia, Virginia Tech (twice) and Ohio State.

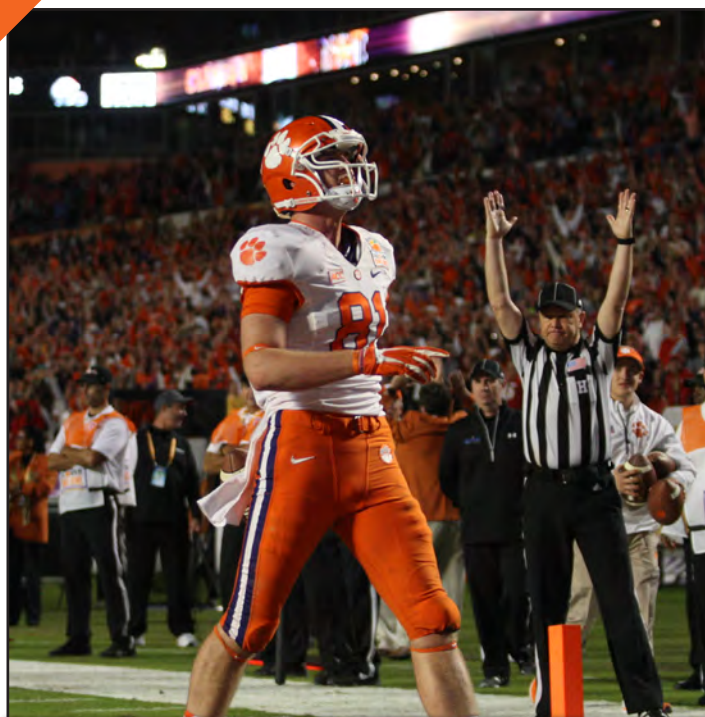

He finished his career with ACC records for total offense and touchdown responsibility. He is the only quarterback in ACC history to throw for at least 3800 yards in three different seasons. He was outstanding in the clutch as well, leading the Tigers to a 6-0 record in games decided by a touchdown or less over the last two years.

But, Swinney has confidence in all three candidates who will compete this spring to be his replacement.

"I believe we have three quarterbacks who can play in the NFL some day," said Swinney. "Tajh Boyd has moved on to the next level, but we are not going to lower the standard at this position. The standard is still winning and I expect us to have a very productive offense in 2014.

"I don't see any reason why we can't be explosive and fun to watch on offense this year. We will have different players carrying the ball, but we have recruited well and I expect us to be productive."

Swinney has three candidates to start at quarterback when the Tigers open the season at Georgia on August 30. Whoever the quarterback is, it will be his first career start, but two candidates have seen action in games.

Stanton Seckinger established himself at the tight end spot with 21 receptions for 244 yards and four touchdowns in 2013.

Cole Stoudt has the most experience, as the senior is a veteran of 22 games. Last year he completed 47-59 passes for 415 yards and five touchdowns with no interceptions. His completion percentage (.797) was the best in the nation among quarterbacks with at least 50 attempts and his passing efficiency figure of 166.7 was just slightly lower than Boyd's 168.7, a figure that ranked eighth in the nation among quarterbacks who attempted 15 passes a game.

"Cole Stoudt has played a lot of snaps over the last three years in this offense and we have won games with Cole. His experience running this offense is very important and he has been very accurate when called on."

Chad Kelly was the third-team quarterback last year, but did play 55 snaps for Clemson's offense that scored at least 50 points in five games. He showed his ability to run the ball with 16 rushes for 117 yards and a score, a 7.3 average, best on the team among players who rushed for at least 100 yards. He also completed 10-17 passes.

"Chad Kelly has two years of experience in this system and has demonstrated his unique abilities. He had a lot of success running the football in games when he got the opportunity. But he also has a strong arm."

True freshman Deshaun Watson is a third candidate who will be at Clemson for spring practice. The native of Gainesville, GA comes to Clemson with high school statistics that resemble Boyd's Clemson data. He is the all-time leader in touchdown passes for the state of Georgia, a record he owned before his senior year started. He was listed as the top dual-threat quarterback in the nation by many services.

"Deshaun Watson is the X-factor," said Swinney. "I am very glad to have him here for the Spring and we can get an idea of what he can do. He does have a good background with this offense as his high school ran virtually the same attack."

"I don't know when our starter will be decided. It might be obvious at the end of spring practice. Or it might be the week of the Georgia game before we name a starter. Or we might have multiple quarterbacks involved, I am not adverse to that."

While the loss of Sammy Watkins and Martavis Bryant to the NFL draft a year early is significant (combined 2292 receiving yards and 19 touchdowns in 2013), the Tigers do have players returning who caught 48 percent of the passes and gained 41 percent of the yards.

The list of returnees are led by Adam Humphries, Germone Hopper, Charone Peake and Mike Williams.

Humphries had 41 receptions last year, third on the team, for 483 yards and two scores. He enters his senior season with 97 career catches for 893 yards for his career, more than any other active Tiger. Hopper had 21 catches from the slot receiver position for 142 yards and also had two scores.

Williams and Peake are both capable of making big plays on the outside. Williams actually started three times last year and had 20 receptions for 316 yards, a solid 15.8 average, and had three scores. He had at least one catch in 10 of the 13 games.

Peake played just the first two games of last year before suffering a torn ACL in a practice the week after the South Carolina State game. He played a big role in Clemson's win over Georgia with five catches for 58 yards, second best on the team that night in Clemson's win over the number-five team in the nation.

"We have talented players returning at wide receiver," said Swinney. "Mike Williams showed during his freshman year that he has the potential to be a great player here. Adam Humphries has been a reliable, talented player for three years and Charone Peake was a starter last year until he got hurt. Hopper also gained significant experience last year and we look for him to be much improved."

Three true freshmen are in camp this spring and will get significant looks during the 15 practices. Demarre Kitt, Kyrin Priestler and Artavis Scott are all receivers ranked among the top-150 players in the nation by various services coming out of high school.

"We have three new wide receivers who will be with us in Spring practice and we look at that as a big plus entering the fall. With the loss of Sammy Watkins and Martavis Bryant, and Charone Peake still recovering from a torn ACL, those three freshmen will start spring practice as our second team at the three wide receiver positions. We are hopeful that by the time we open with Georgia those three will be like red-shirt freshmen when it comes to experience."

Tight end has been an important position in the Clemson offense since Chad Morris became offensive coordinator in 2011. He had the John Mackey Award winner in 2011 (Dwayne Allen) and a first-team All-ACC tight end in 2012 (Brandon Ford). The 2013 season saw a tight end-by-committee approach. Still, there was outstanding production as Clemson tight ends caught 45 passes for 497 yards and seven scores.

Stanton Seckinger is the returning starter and he had 21 receptions for 244 yards and four scores last year. He started the year catching what proved to be the winning touchdown pass against fifth-ranked Georgia and ended the year catching the winning touchdown pass against sixth-ranked Ohio State.

Jordan Leggett is a sophomore with big play potential. He showed that with a 43-yard catch against Ohio State in the Orange Bowl and had 12 catches for 176 yards and two scores last year. Sam Cooper is a third veteran back at the position. He overcame a torn ACL in the 2013 Spring Game to make a significant contribution to the Tigers 2013 season.

One of the most underrated players in the ACC last year was Clemson running back Rod McDowell. The native of Sumter, SC waited his turn to be the starter after watching Andre Ellington play ahead of him for three seasons, two of which were 1000-yard seasons for the current starter for the Phoenix Cardinals. In 2013, McDowell got his chance and had his own 1000-yard season.

Now McDowell has moved on to professional football and it is time for someone else to step up. Zac Brooks is the leading returning rusher after gaining 246 yards on 48 carries last year. The junior from Arkansas also had six catches for 83 yards, including a key touchdown reception in the win over Georgia.

D.J. Howard has been injured off and on over his career, but the senior has a team best 581 career rushing yards and 35 games of experience on his resume. That includes an 86-yard performance against Auburn his freshman year when Clemson ended the SEC Tigers 17-game winning streak.

C.J. Davidson is one of the most interesting stories on the Clemson team. The original walk-on who came to Clemson on track scholarship, showed breakaway speed in his limited duty last year when he had 34 carries for 155 yards and four touchdowns. He had three receptions for 27 yards in the Orange Bowl win over Ohio State.

Red-shirt freshmen Wayne Gallman and Tyshon Dye will be in the mix at running back this year. Dye suffered a torn Achilles injury in February mat drills, an injury that will be a setback in his preparation for 2014.

"An opportunity exists for one of our running backs to step up and take the position, but I really expect that we will be deeper at running back than we have been. We have a lot of good people at this position who can get the job done."

"Tyshon Dye could have been the opening day starter, but has suffered a setback with a torn Achilles in February workouts. We are still optimistic we will get him back early in the fall."

"D.J. Howard has the most experience of the returning players. But, he has to stay healthy, the last two years that has been a problem."

"The same can be said for Zac Brooks. It seems like he was hurt all of last year after catching a big touchdown pass against Georgia. He has the tools, including as a receiver, to do the job in this offense.

"Wayne Gallman is a red-shirt freshman who has a lot of ability and he could take the job. C.J. Davidson played very well in the bowl game and throughout last year. He might have the best breakaway speed among the running backs."

While Swinney knows the media will focus on the race to become Clemson's next starting quarterback, he is most concerned about the starting of offensive tackle slots.

"We lost Brandon Thomas, our starting left tackle, who I believe is going to be a terrific player at the next level. We also have lost Patrick Destefano and Giff Timothy off cycle due to injury.

"We can't afford another injury there. It will be important for Isaiah Battle, Shaq Anthony and Joe Gore to step up. We may have to move some players around as well. Eric Mac Lain and Kalon Davis could swing to play both guard and tackle. This will be an area of need in recruiting this year as well."

Battle started four games last year after Giff Timothy suffered a season ending injury. The junior is a gifted athlete at 6-6 and 275 pounds. He has held his own in his first two years against some of the top defensive linemen in the nation by LSU, Georgia, South Carolina and Ohio State.

Shaq Anthony also has experience as a starter at tackle in his first two years with five career starts, including three last year. He played 503 snaps on Clemson's 2013 team that averaged 40 points and over 500 yards per game.

Kalon Davis and David Beasley both started seven games at guard last year and are considered returning co-starters this year. The pair of seniors has considerable experience. Davis, who is also capable of playing some tackle, played an even 500 plays last year and is a veteran of 36 career games with eight starts. Beasley, also a starter in 2012, played 433 plays last year and has 19 starts for his Clemson career.

Clemson is strong at the center position with returning starter Ryan Norton, who had to replace All-American Dalton Freeman last year. He responded as a sophomore from the very first game when he was named ACC Offensive Lineman of the Week against Georgia. He went on to play a team high 841 plays for the year and started all 13.

Jay Guillermo played 182 snaps as a reserve center and guard last year and he might be too good to leave in a second team role this year, as he is capable of playing other positions.

Reid Webster is the most versatile of the Clemson offensive linemen as the red-shirt senior and three-year letterman has experience at guard, tackle and center. He could prove to be a very valuable member of the Clemson team in 2014.

Defense (7 returning starters, 27 returning lettermen)

While Clemson must replace personnel who accounted for a high percentage of the Tigers 2013 offensive production, the defense returns players who accounted for a high percentage of the big plays.

Clemson led the nation in tackles for loss by a wide margin with 122 and players who accounted for 96.5 of them, 79 percent, return for 2014. Players who had 87 percent of the sacks, 69 percent of the passes broken up and 60 percent of the takeaways are back. Clemson had 27 players who had at least 10 tackles last year and 22 of them return.

"We have made significant improvement on defense over the last couple of years, to the point where last year we were ranked in the top-25 in the nation in as many defensive categories as offensive," said Swinney.

"When I first came here I said to reach an elite level we had to be outstanding on defense and we were in many areas last year. And, as a result, we finished with a top-10 final ranking for the first time since 1990.

"We led the nation in tackles for loss by a wide margin and ranked in the top-20 in interceptions and turnovers forced. Turnover margin is so important and you could see that in just about all of our games last year."

A look to the overall personnel of the Clemson team indicates that the strength of the team will be the defensive line. No less than 12 returning lettermen, six defensive ends and six defensive tackles, return to a defense that ranked in the top-25 in the nation in scoring defense and total defense, and was 10th in turnovers forced.

Leading the large group of returning defenders is consensus All-American Vic Beasley. The senior is one of just three returning consensus All-Americans for 2014. A candidate to turn professional, Beasley decided to return for his senior season after a 2013 performance that included 13 sacks, 23 tackles for loss and four caused fumbles. He ranked third in the nation in sacks per game and tackles for loss per game and was 10th in caused fumbles. He led the nation in sacks on the road and was third in total sack yardage with 96.

"Our biggest signee since the end of the 2013 season was Vic Beasley. Having Vic return for his senior year is a big plus for our defense. He went from being a reserve as a sophomore to being a consensus All-American as a junior. He had an outstanding junior year, but there is another level for him."

Beasley's comrade at the other end of the defensive line is Corey Crawford, a two-year starter who actually had more tackles than Beasley (52 to 44) and added 10.5 tackles for loss and three sacks. Defensive tackle Grady Jarrett was the defensive co-MVP in 2012 and is in his third year as a starter. He finished third on Clemson's defense in tackles last year with 83, 11 of which were tackles for loss. Josh Watson, D.J. Reader, DeShawn Williams and Carlos

Watkins are four more returning players with starting experience.

"We might have the most experienced defensive line in the nation with six seniors who have been a big reason we have won 32 games the last three years. All six of them have the potential to play at the next level. This is the most experienced defensive front I have seen since I came to Clemson (as an assistant in 2003).

"Grady Jarrett might be the most under rated defensive player in the ACC. One of the keys to our victory over Ohio State was limiting their ground attack that ranked in the top 10 in the nation entering the game. Grady had a lot to do with that. He is a terrific leader as well.

"Corey Crawford is another defensive end who could have turned professional after his junior year. He developed consistency last year and we expect more of the same."

The above listing of players does not even include Shaq Lawson, who had 10 tackles for loss and four sacks in 337 plays as a reserve in 2013. He was named a second-team freshman All-American. Other returning lettermen include Martin Aiken, Tavaris Barnes, Rod Byers and Kevin Dodd.

There are two open starting slots at linebacker. Clemson's leading tackler last year was Stephone Anthony, who had 131 stops according to the film study by Clemson coaches. He had 13.5 tackles for loss, four sacks, five PBUs and an interception. That theft might have been the biggest by a Clemson player all year as it clinched the victory over Ohio State on the Buckeyes last possession.

"We will miss Spencer Shuey and Quandon Christian at the linebacker spots, but we do return Stephone Anthony. He made great strides last year when he took ownership of the middle linebacker position and he was our leading tackler.

"Obviously this is an area of the team where a couple of young men will have a chance to step into a starting role, but I am confident in the young men we have returning from last year."

Candidates to step up into significant roles are returning lettermen Tony Steward, Kellen Jones, B.J. Goodson, Ben Bouleware and T.J. Burrell. Steward has been Clemson's top special teams player each of the last two years and is ready to assume a starting position with his classmate Anthony. He had 37 tackles in just 167 plays last year.

Jones played in just two games last year before suffering an injury, but the Oklahoma transfer was the team's top tackler against South Carolina State with 11 stops. Bouleware had 18 tackles in just 73 defensive scrimmage plays, or a tackle every four snaps. He was also one of Clemson's top players on special teams.

Clemson returns two starting safeties and nine total lettermen in a secondary that helped the Tigers rank 19th in the nation in pass efficiency defense last year. Clemson's 18 interceptions ranked 13th best in the nation and the unit was a big reason Clemson was fifth nationally in third-down defense.

"I am excited about the secondary because we do have some talented young players coming off a red-shirt year who should be major contributors to the group of returning players. We have four players back with significant experience in Robert Smith, Travis Blanks, Garry Peters and Martin Jenkins.

"We were aggressive in the secondary last year, and ranked in the top 20 in forcing turnovers. Of course some of those were the result of pressure from our defensive front. It all goes hand in hand.

Robert Smith and Travis Blanks are returning starters at safety. Smith was fourth on the team in tackles last year with 79, including 60 first hits. He added five pass breakups. Blanks had 35 tackles in 11 games, as he missed the last two due to a knee injury suffered against The Citadel.

Peters and Jenkins have a lot of experience. Peters played 247 plays in 10 games a year ago and had 28 tackles, including four tackles for loss. Jenkins had a pick six against South Carolina State early in the season and had 26 tackles.

Jenkins and Korrin Wiggins held the nickel position last year. Wiggins had many timely plays, including a pair of interceptions and five pass deflections. Jayron Kearse started three games last year and showed big play capability, especially at Virginia where he had takeaways on consecutive possessions. He tied for the team lead in that category with four. Jadar Johnson and Cordrea Tankersley are two returning lettermen who will also factor in the secondary.

The secondary is also an area where a red-shirt freshman could break into the lineup. That group includes Mackensie Alexander, Adrian Baker, Ryan Carter, and Marcus Edmond.

Special Teams

Clemson must replace a four-year starter at kicker, as Chandler Catanzaro graduated after setting 10 school records. The graduate made 39 of his last 41 field goals over his last three years and he made many in the clutch. He leaves Clemson as its career leader in scoring and the leader in field goals of at least 40 yards with 23.

Adam Lakip scored nine points last year as Catanzaro's backup. He was 6-6 on extra points and 1-2 on field goals. He will be the top candidate to replace Catanzaro.

Bradley Pinion returns as the starting punter and kickoff man. The former USA Today All-American had a 39.4 gross average, but a strong 37.8 figure in terms of net punting. He had a record-tying 24 punts inside the 20 with no touchbacks. Pinion had 38 touchbacks on 78 kickoffs and was a big reason Clemson ranked in the top 25 in the nation in kickoff coverage.

Adam Humphries is the top return man. As a punt returner, he averaged 10.6 yards per return on 20 attempts, 24th-best in the nation.

Bradley Pinion tied a record with 24 punts inside the 20 yard line with no touchbacks, and had 38 touchbacks in 78 kickoffs.

ESPN College GameDay Double

Clemson served as host of ESPN College GameDay twice during the 2013 season, the only school that could make that claim. It marked the first time a school served as host for the program twice in one season since 2008, when Auburn had two shows on campus. Ohio State is the only program to serve as host twice in a season three different times.

ESPN College GameDay was at Clemson for the season-opener against Georgia on August 31. That game pitted the #5 Bulldogs against the #8 Tigers, as Clemson won 38-35. The Clemson vs. Florida State game on October 19 also hosted the program. Clemson was ranked #3 and Florida State was ranked #5. The Seminoles won on their way to the National Championship game.

Overall, Clemson has served as host for ESPN College GameDay three times. The other occurrence took place in 2006 for the Clemson vs. Georgia Tech game.

Eleven schools have hosted ESPN College GameDay twice in a season on campus. Clemson became just the second ACC school to host the program twice in one year, as Virginia Tech hosted it twice in 2005. Miami (FL) (2000) and Virginia Tech (1999) hosted two ESPN College GameDay broadcasts in one year before they joined the ACC.

Former Tigers on NFL Rosters

A total of 27 former Tigers were on NFL rosters in 2013. The list includes two players on practice squads. Twenty-two of the 27 Tigers played on the 2009 Clemson team.

The list included seven players from the 2012 team, including active players Jaron Brown, Andre Ellington, Malliciah Goodman, DeAndre Hopkins, and Jonathan Meeks.

In the second week of the NFL season, former Tiger wide receiver DeAndre Hopkins scored the game-winning touchdown for Houston in a win over Tennessee. He finished the game with seven catches for 117 yards. Hopkins was named NFL Rookie-of-the-Month for September.

Ellington had a 154-yard rushing game earlier in 2013 for the Cardinals and scored on an 80-yard run. Both Ellington and Hopkins were named to NFL All-Rookie Teams.

The top Tiger in terms of team accomplishment in 2013 was Byron Maxwell. A senior on Clemson's 2010 team, Maxwell started in the Seattle Seahawks Super Bowl victory over the Denver Broncos. Maxwell had four interceptions and 13 total passes defended for the Seahawks.

Boyd a 32-Game Winner

When Clemson defeated Ohio State in the Discover Orange Bowl, it gave Tajh Boyd a record tying 32 victories as Clemson's starting quarterback. He tied the record formerly held by Rodney Williams, Clemson's starting signal caller from 1985-88.

Boyd won 10 games as a sophomore, 11 in 2012, and another 11 in 2013 when he guided the Tigers to an 11-2 record. The Tigers finished in the top 10 in the nation in the USA Today poll each of the last two years. His career record included a 21-4 mark against ACC teams. Boyd broke the Clemson record for wins over ACC teams as Williams had a 20-6-1 record against ACC teams.

Overall, Boyd had 13 wins away from home and 19 in Death Valley. The school record for wins by a starting quarterback away from home is still 14 by Williams.

Swinney's SEC Success

Since Dabo Swinney became the head coach at Clemson in the middle of the 2008 season, he has six wins over SEC teams. That is the most in the nation among non-SEC coaches. Swinney is first with six, followed by Jimbo Fisher of Florida State with five, Texas head coach Charlie Strong with four. Pat Fitzgerald (Northwestern), Paul Johnson (Georgia Tech), and former Wake Forest coach Jim Grobe (Wake Forest) all three SEC wins apiece.

Four of Swinney's six wins over SEC teams have been against top-25 SEC squads, also more than any other non-SEC coach. Since 2011, top-25 SEC teams have lost just 11 games to non-SEC teams, and four of the 11 defeats have come against Swinney's Tigers.

Swinney beat South Carolina in the 2008 regular-season finale, defeated Kentucky in the 2009 Music City Bowl, downed Auburn in 2011 and 2012, #7 Louisiana State in the 2012 Chick-fil-A Bowl, and #5 Georgia to open 2013.

Four Clemson Tigers Named Academic All-ACC

Chandler Catanzaro, Tyler Shatley, Ben Boulware and Daniel Rodriguez were named to the 2013 Academic All-ACC Football Team.

Catanzaro (biological sciences) and Shatley (civil engineering) have already graduated from Clemson, while Boulware is a freshman and Rodriguez is a junior in terms of eligibility. It was the third time that Catanzaro made the team, the second selection for Shatley.

Catanzaro and Shatley were both All-ACC players on the field as well in 2013 as both made third-team All-ACC.

Catanzaro finished his career as Clemson's career scoring leader with 404 points and was the school's career leader in field goals of at least 40 yards. He made 39 of his last 41 field goal attempts over three seasons. Shatley was a two-year starter at offensive guard, helping the Clemson offense to its two highest scoring seasons in history.

Rodriguez was a reserve wide receiver in 2013, but played in all 13 games and caught seven passes, including a touchdown against The Citadel. Boulware played in 11 games and finished the season with 25 tackles.

Clemson 2014 Seniors Pursue School Wins Record

Clemson's 2014 senior class has a 32-8 record for its first three years and needs just nine wins to establish the school record for wins in a four-year period. The record is 40 by the 1990 class that was 40-8 for its four years, four straight 10-2 seasons.

The 2014 seniors have a 20-4 mark in ACC games (not including ACC Championship games). The group needs just five ACC wins to establish the class record for that category as well.

The 2014 seniors are 19-2 at Death Valley over the last three years and a six-win season at home (seven total games) will give this group the record for wins at home. The record is 24 by the seniors of 2012 and 2013.

Clemson's Balanced Offense under Morris

Clemson has had a balanced offense under Offensive Coordinator Chad Morris. One of the examples is a look nationally to the number of teams that have had a 3000-yard passer, a 1000-yard receiver and 1000-yard rusher each of the last three years. There have been just two, Baylor and Clemson, to do all three each of the last three years.

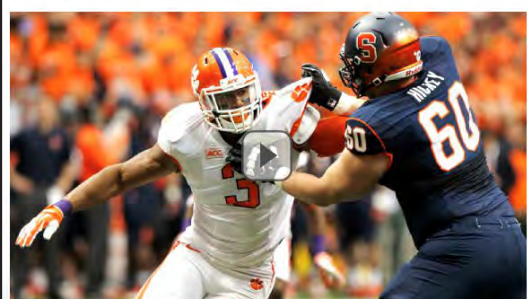

Below is a chart of the numbers for Clemson and Baylor and the players who recorded those gaudy statistics. Notice the consistence in the totals for Boyd, all three years within 68 yards). Give credit to Baylor, they accomplished the feat with eight different players.

Night & Day Clemson's average of 82,048 fans per game in Death Valley ranked 15th in the nation. The Tigers were 6-1 at home in 2013.

Beasley One of Three Returning Consensus All-Americans

Vic Beasley was named a Consensus All-American by the NCAA for the 2013 season. He is the eighth Clemson junior to earn Consensus All-America honors, and is the first to return to Clemson for his senior year since the NFL started drafting players before the end of their eligibility.

Bennie Cunningham (1974), Terry Kinard

(1981) and William Perry (1983) were all named Consensus All-American as juniors and had not option to turn professional. Since 1989, the first year juniors could turn pro early, Anthony Simmons (1997), Keith Adams (2000), Da'Quan Bowers (2010) and Dwayne Allen (2011) have all been named Consensus All-Americans as juniors. All four of those players decided to turn pro.

So Beasley is the first Clemson junior Consensus All-American to return for his senior year since 1989.

A look to the list below shows that the players who came back for their senior year benefitted. Cunningham, Kinard and Perry were all first-round draft picks after their senior years. All went on to win Super Bowl Championship Rings.

Simmons was a first-round draft pick, but Adams, Bowers and Allen were not.

Vic Beasley One of Top 10 Players by Sporting News

Beasley is listed as the 10th best player in the nation, third among defensive players by the Sporting News in its Pre-Spring Practice ranking. The rising senior is one of just three 2013 Consensus All-Americans returning for the 2014 season.

The only defensive players ranked ahead of Beasley by the Sporting News are Leonard Williams of Southern California, and Rand Gregory of Nebraska. He is also third among ACC players, trailing only Jameis Winston and Cameron Erving of Florida State.

Last year Beasley was a consensus All-American and first-team All-ACC defensive end. He had 23 tackles for loss and 13 sacks to help Clemson lead the nation in tackles for loss as a team and rank 13th in sacks per game. His 23 sacks in 13 games ranked second in the nation on a per game basis and his sacks per game figure ranked third best. He was also tied for 10th in the nation in caused fumbles with four.

The native of Adairsville, GA made an incredible improvement last year. As a sophomore in 2012, Beasley played just 288 snaps and did not start a game, but he had eight sacks to lead the Clemson team. Then in 2013 he started every game on Clemson's 11-2 team that finished the season seventh in the nation.

Boyd and Watkins Make NFL.com All-Bowl Team; Watkins Named Offensive Postseason MVP

Clemson quarterback Tajh Boyd and wide receiver Sammy Watkins were both named to the NFL.com All-Bowl team for the 2013-14 FBS bowl season. In fact, Watkins was named the offensive postseason MVP by the website that is the official site of the NFL.

Boyd completed 31-40 passes for 378 yards and five scores in Clemson's 40-35 win over Ohio State in the Discover Orange Bowl. The Clemson graduate also rushed 20 times for a career high 127 yards and a touchdown, giving him 505 yards of total offense on 60 plays.

The total offense figure was the most in Orange Bowl history (bowl started in 1935) for an individual and the second highest figure for any BCS Bowl game. He also tied the Orange Bowl record for rushing yards by a quarterback. J.C. Watts had 127 for Oklahoma against Florida State in the 1980 Orange Bowl.

Watkins had 16 receptions for 227 yards and two touchdowns. The reception total and yardage were also Orange Bowl records and Clemson single game marks. His reception yardage total was the second most in a BCS bowl. Watkins was named the most valuable player of the game.

Clemson Seventh in USA Today and Eighth in AP in Final Polls

USA Today Ranking Highest for Program since 1981
Clemson ranks seventh by USA Today and eighth by the Associated Press in the final college football polls for 2013. The number-seven ranking in USA Today is the highest final ranking for the Clemson program in one of the two major polls since 1981 when Clemson won the National Championship according to both wire services.

Clemson's number-eight final ranking in Associated Press is the highest for the program in that poll since a number-eight final ranking in 1982.

Clemson defeated a then sixth-ranked Ohio State team, 40-35 on January 3 to win the Discover Orange Bowl. It marked the second straight year Clemson had beaten a top 10 team in a bowl game to conclude the season. Clemson closed the 2012 season by defeating a seventh-ranked LSU team, 25-24 in the Chick-fil-A Bowl. Clemson is the only program in the nation to defeat a top 10 team in a bowl game each of the last two years.

The 2013 season marks the ninth season Clemson has been ranked in the final top 10 of at least one poll. It is the first time Clemson has had a top 10 final ranking in consecutive years since 1987 and 1988. Clemson was 10th in the final Coaches Poll of 1987 and eighth in the final coaches poll of 1988.

This is the third straight season Clemson has finished in the top 25 of both polls. This is the third time in history Clemson has had a run of at least three straight years in the final top 25. Clemson was in the final top 25 for six consecutive years from 1986-91 and for three straight years from 1981-83.

Clemson was one of two ACC schools to finish in the top 10 of both polls in 2013. Florida State won the national championship with a 34-31 win over Auburn. This marks the first time since 1997 that two ACC teams finished in the top 10 of both polls. Florida State and North Carolina did it that year.

Morris Named National Assistant Coach of the Year by AFCA

First Clemson Assistant Coach to Win a National Award

Clemson Offensive Coordinator Chad Morris was named the FBS National Assistant Coach of the Year by the American Football Coaches Association. Morris is the first Clemson assistant football coach to win a national coach of the year honor.

Each year, staff representatives from NCAA and NAIA football-playing schools are asked to nominate an assistant for consideration. From those nominations, a winner is selected by the AFCA Public Relations Committee.

The Assistant Coach of the Year award was first presented in 1997 and was created to honor assistant coaches who excel in community service, commitment to the student-athlete, on-field coaching success and AFCA professional organization involvement.

Morris was selected from a finalist group that also included Bobby Williams of Alabama and Josh Heupel of Oklahoma.

Morris helped lead Clemson to a 11-2 record and number seven final ranking in 2013. He has been a common factor in Clemson's 32 wins over the last three years, the most in any three year period in Clemson history. The Tigers averaged over 500 yards and 40 points in 2013. Over his three years as head coach Clemson has set 138 records, including 57 by quarterback Tajh Boyd.

Personal Data

Born November 20, 1969 in Birmingham, AL...married to the former Kathleen Bassett...the couple has three sons (Will 15, Drew 13, Clay 10).

At 44, Dabo Swinney is one of the youngest head coaches in the ACC and the country. However, his resumé is already stuffed with many significant accomplishments on a school, ACC, and national level.

First, his mere appointment to the position was significant. In October of 2008, he was named Clemson interim head coach, replacing Tommy Bowden, who had been his position coach as a player at Alabama and was Clemson's head coach since 1999. He led the Tigers to a 4-2 record over the remainder of the 2008 regular season, including a win over South Carolina in the regular-season finale. That strong finish led to a Gator Bowl bid against Nebraska.

On December 1, 2008, the interim tag was removed from the title and he was named the program's head coach. At the time, there had been 28 interim head coaches at the FBS level since 1970 and those coaches had combined for a record of 26-86-2. Only one of those 28 interim coaches posted a winning record, and that was Swinney. When he was hired as the head coach, Swinney became just the second interim coach to be elevated to the head coach position at the same school during that time period.

In six years (five full seasons) as the Tigers' head coach, Swinney has directed Clemson to a 51-23 overall record (.689) and a 33-12 ACC regular-season mark (.733). He has also led the Tigers to the ACC Championship game twice, won one ACC Championship, won or shared three ACC Atlantic Division titles, and has been named national coach-of-the-year.

In addition to leading the program to six bowl games on the field in his young career, his players have excelled in the classroom. During the 2010-11, 2011-12, and 2012-13 academic years, the Clemson football program finished in the top 10 in the nation in APR scores.

Swinney has coached Clemson to wins over top-10 teams in bowl games each of the last two years, the only head coach in the nation who can make that claim.

Clemson recorded double-digit wins for the third year in a row in 2013, as the Tigers capped off the season with a thrilling 40-35 victory over #6 Ohio State in the Orange Bowl. Clemson had an 11-2 record after finishing 7-1 in ACC regular-season games for the second year in a row. It marked Clemson's first back-to-back 11-win seasons in school history. The Tigers had a 4-0 record in ACC road games, the first time that happened since 1995.

The Tigers were #12 in the final BCS standings. It was the third straight year Clemson finished in the top 15 of the BCS standings, one of only six schools that could make that claim. Clemson, who was ranked #7 in the final USA Today poll and #8 in the final AP poll, was also one of only five programs that ranked in the top 20 of every BCS standing from 2011 to 2013.

For the fourth time in his first five full seasons as head coach at Clemson, Swinney was a finalist (top 10) for the Liberty Mutual National Coach-of-the-Year Award in 2013. Swinney was also one of 16 semifinalists for national coach-of-the-year by the Maxwell Football Club Collegiate Coach-of-the-Year Award for the second year in a row.

The Clemson offense continued to put up record-setting numbers in 2013, as it averaged 40.2 points and 507.7 yards per game. The Tiger defense also finished in the top 25 in the nation in scoring defense, total defense, and turnovers forced. Clemson joined Florida State as the only schools in the nation to finish in the top 25 in the nation in scoring offense, scoring defense, total offense, and total defense.

Tajh Boyd broke almost every Clemson career record for quarterbacks thanks in part to his 2013 season, where he completed 68.5 percent of his passes for 3,851 yards and 34 touchdowns. He also added a team-high 10 rushing touchdowns. Boyd's 107 career passing touchdowns and 133 total touchdowns were ACC records as well.

Sammy Watkins was a finalist for the Biletnikoff Award and was a first-team All-America selection, as he had 101 receptions for 1,464 yards and 12 touchdowns. He established Tiger career records for receptions, receiving yards, and tied the receiving touchdowns mark as well.

Along with Boyd's selection as a Second-Team All-ACC pick, offensive tackle Brandon Thomas, offensive guard Tyler Shatley, running back Roderick McDowell, and placekicker Chandler Catanzaro were also named to the All-ACC squad on offense.

Defensive end Vic Beasley, who led the ACC lead in sacks (13) and added 23 tackles for loss, was a consensus first-team All-America selection. Defensive back Bashaud Breeland along with linebackers Stephone Anthony and Spencer Shuey also earned All-ACC honors on defense.

The 2012 season (11-2) was a groundbreaking year for Swinney's Tigers when looking at the overall consistency of the program.

The seven conference wins in the regular season set a school record. Clemson was co-champion of the ACC Atlantic Division and has won or shared the division crown three of the last five years. The school record for consecutive home wins (13) was also established, as was the record for consecutive wins by at least 14 points (7).

With Clemson's thrilling 25-24 win over #7 Louisiana State in the 2012 Chick-fil-A Bowl, the Tigers finished the season ranked #9 in the USA Today poll. It was Clemson's first top-10 finish in one of the two major polls since 1990. Clemson also reached the 11-win mark for the first time since its 1981 National Championship season. The Tigers finished #14 in the final BCS standings as well.

The 2012 campaign featured a record-setting offense. Clemson had six of the 11 offensive players on the All-ACC first team chosen by media and over 80 school team and individual records.

Leading the way was Boyd, the ACC Player-of-the-Year. The quarterback joined center Dalton Freeman as first-team All-Americans according to AFCA, just the third time since 1945 that the AFCA first-team All-America quarterback and center were from the same school.

Boyd's favorite wide receiver, DeAndre Hopkins, had 18 receiving touchdowns, second-most in the nation, and was a second-team All-American. He was a big reason Clemson scored a school-record 533 points.

Swinney was a finalist for the 2012 Liberty Mutual National Coach-of-the-Year Award for the third time. He was also one of 16 semifinalists for national coach-of-the-year by the Maxwell Football Club Collegiate Coach-of-the-Year Award.

Swinney's 2011 squad, which ended the season ranked #22 in the nation, captured Clemson's first ACC title since 1991 when it beat #3 Virginia Tech 38-10 in the ACC Championship game in Charlotte, NC. It tied for the highest-ranked team the Tigers defeated in history. The win, the Tigers' second over the Hokies in 2011, gave Clemson its first 10-win season since 1990. The Tigers' four wins over top-25 ranked teams established a school record. Swinney has 10 top-25 wins in his head-coaching career, including six victories over top-10 teams.

The Tigers jumped out to an 8-0 record and a #6 national ranking after being unranked in the pre-season. Games 3-5 marked a tough stretch, as Clemson hosted #19 Auburn, who entered with a national-best 17-game winning streak, and #11 Florida State along with a road game at #10 Virginia Tech. The Tigers were victorious in all three contests by scores of 38-24, 35-30, and 23-3, respectively, marking the first time in history that an ACC team won three consecutive games over top-25 ranked (AP) teams. Clemson also held Virginia Tech without a touchdown for the first time in a game at Blacksburg since 1995.

For his efforts, Swinney was named Bobby Dodd National Coach-of-the-Year in 2011 to become the first Tiger head coach to win a national coach-of-the-year award since 1981, when Danny Ford directed Clemson to the national title.

Swinney, who was also one of five finalists for the Eddie Robinson National Coach-of-the-Year Award, one of 10 finalists for the Bear Bryant National Coach-of-the-Year Award, one of 10 finalists for the Liberty Mutual Coach-of-the-Year Award, and received the Regional AFCA Coach-of-the-Year Award in 2011, led the Tigers to their first Orange Bowl berth since 1981 with the help of five First-Team All-ACC players.

Dwayne Allen (TE), Boyd (QB), Andre Branch (DE), Freeman (C), and Watkins (WR) all earned first-team honors, while Andre Ellington (RB), Catanzaro (PK), and Brandon Thompson (DT) earned second-team honors. Watkins was also Second-Team All-ACC as a specialist.

Allen received the John Mackey Award as the nation's top tight end and totaled 50 receptions for 598 yards and eight touchdowns. Boyd set the school record for total yards (4,046), passing yards (3,828), and passing touchdowns (33), all marks he eclipsed in subsequent seasons. Branch, a finalist for the Ted Hendricks Award, had an ACC-best 17 tackles for loss and an ACC-high 10.5 sacks, including tying school-records for tackles for loss (6) and sacks (4) in Clemson's win at #10 Virginia Tech. Freeman was a finalist for the Rimington Trophy as well.

Watkins was one of the most dynamic freshmen in the nation. The ACC Rookie-of-the-Year totaled 82 receptions for 1,219 yards and 12 touchdowns along with a 25.0-yard average and one touchdown on kick-off returns despite missing one game due to injury. Watkins teamed up with Ellington to give Clemson a 1,000-yard receiver and 1,000-yard rusher, as Ellington had 1,178 rushing yards and 11 rushing touchdowns. Watkins was also an AP First-Team All-American, just the fourth in college football history as a first-year freshman.

Swinney became just the second Tiger coach to lead Clemson's program into a bowl game in his first two full years as head coach, joining his predecessor, Bowden. The 2010 schedule was one of the most challenging in school history, as nine bowl teams were on the regular-season slate and two of the four non-conference opponents were ranked in the top 25 when they played the Tigers, just the second time in 21 years the Tigers faced two top-25 non-conference opponents in the regular season.

The 2010 season included wins over bowl teams Georgia Tech, Maryland, and N.C. State. N.C. State was ranked #23 in the nation and was leading the ACC in scoring. But the defense held N.C. State and Russell Wilson to just one touchdown and 13 points. The team excelled defensively in 2010 and was 13th in the nation in scoring defense and in the top 25 in both total defense and passing defense.

C.J. Spiller was a unanimous first-team All-American in 2009, and Da'Quan Bowers duplicated the feat on the defense a year later. Bowers won the 2010 Bronko Nagurski Award as the nation's top defensive player, and he received the Ted Hendricks Award as the country's top defensive end. He was also a finalist for the Bednarik Award and Lombardi Award. He led the nation in sacks (15.5) and tied for the national lead in tackles for loss (26).

Bowers was one of four First-Team All-ACC players in 2010, as he joined Jarvis Jenkins (DT) and DeAndre McDaniel (S) on defense and Chris Hairston (OT) on offense. Clemson and Maryland tied for the most First-Team All-ACC selections.

In 2009, Swinney's first full year as head coach, he led the Tigers to their first championship of the ACC's Atlantic Division. The Tigers came just six points short of winning their first ACC title in 18 years. Swinney was named ACC Coach-of-the-Year by Sporting News and was a finalist for the Liberty Mutual Coach-of-the-Year Award.

Swinney accumulated nine wins, second-most among all FBS coaches in their first full year behind Oregon's Chip Kelly. The nine wins tied for fourth-most in ACC history for a first-year head coach. He also led the Tigers to their first bowl win since 2005 in the 21-13 victory over Kentucky in the Music City Bowl.

The Tigers reached the nine-win mark playing a schedule that included four games against top-15 opponents, just the second year in school history (1999 was the other) that Clemson played four games against teams ranked in the top 15 of the AP poll. The Tigers' three FBS non-conference opponents had a combined record of 29-10 in 2009. Clemson gave Rose Bowl-bound TCU one of its stiffest tests in a 14-10 Horned Frog victory on September 26.

Swinney's first season included a six-game winning streak at midseason, a streak that saw the Tigers score at least 34 points in every contest, a first in school history. During that stretch, the Tigers defeated #8 Miami (FL) on the road. The 40-37 overtime victory tied for the highest-ranked team Clemson has defeated on the road in history.

That was the second of six straight wins, the longest winning streak for the Clemson program in four years. The streak also included a 40-24 win over Florida State and Bobby Bowden, the Hall of Fame coach who is first in victories in FBS history. The winning streak brought Clemson to a #15 national ranking in the AP poll after the ACC Atlantic Division clinching victory over Virginia on November 21.

The Tigers had success on offense, defense, and special teams during the 2009 season. They were 28th in the nation and third in the ACC in scoring offense (31.1), while the defense was 20th in total defense (314.3) and seventh in pass defense (162.8). Clemson tied for fifth in the country in interceptions (21) as well.

Clemson added a school-record six kick returns for touchdowns in 2009, four on kickoff returns and two on punt returns.

The main reason Clemson was so outstanding on special teams was the play of college football's most dynamic player (Spiller) in 2009. The Tiger running back was named MVP of the ACC in 2009 and was a consensus first-team All-American. He had five kick returns for touchdowns during the 2009 season, an all-time Clemson record, and established the NCAA record for kickoff returns for touchdowns in a career with seven. He was also the only FBS player to score at least one touchdown in every game in 2009.

Overall, the Tigers held down three positions on the All-ACC First-Team and five spots on the second team. Only Virginia Tech had more representatives.

Swinney became Clemson's interim head coach on October 13, 2008 when Tommy Bowden stepped down. Then on December 1, 2008, the "interim" tag was removed, as he took over on a full-time basis as the Tigers' 25th head coach. He had been Clemson's assistant head coach for two years and was in charge of the wideouts since 2003.

Swinney took over a 3-3 team and led it to a Gator Bowl bid against Nebraska. He guided Clemson to a 4-1 record over the last five games of the regular season, with the only loss at #24 Florida State. That 4-1 record to end the regular season tied for the best mark in the ACC for that time period. Four of his six regular-season opponents were later bowl participants.

Swinney hit the ground running in his first week as interim head coach, as he prepared for a 5-1 Georgia Tech team. He had to re-organize his staff, and regroup his team and Clemson Nation in just five days. While the Tigers lost by four points, he accomplished many goals in that first week through his outstanding leadership. One of the most impressive demonstrations of unity came during the team's "Tiger Walk."

Prior to the game against the Yellow Jackets, Swinney decided to have his team depart buses outside the Lot 5 parking lot near the WestZone at Memorial Stadium and experience the gameday atmosphere. Dressed in jackets and ties, the team was embraced by thousands of Tiger fans who stood 10 deep for the 200-yard march to the stadium. It was the centerpiece of his "All In" theme during his first week as head coach. It is a tradition that has continued.

In his second week as head coach, an off-week, he invited the Clemson student body to a practice, and nearly 1,000 students showed up. He spoke to the group and actually allowed some students to participate during practice, as they were selected to attempt a field goal, punt against a live rush, and field a punt. He also took the entire team to the Greenville Children's Hospital for a visit with young men and women fighting cancer.

He has continued his community involvement through his foundation. His foundation made the first contribution to the cancer fund established for former Boston College linebacker Mark Herzlich. Many schools followed his lead the remainder of the season.

The Liberty Mutual Coach-of-the-Year Award evaluates coaching performances in terms of coaching excellence, sportsmanship, integrity, academic excellence, and community commitment. It is easy to see why Swinney was a national finalist for that award in his first full season as head coach in 2009, and again in 2011, 2012, and 2013.

The 1993 Alabama graduate joined the Clemson staff prior to the 2003 season. In his first 11 years as an assistant or head coach, the Tigers have finished in the top 25 of the polls seven times and have totaled 19 wins over top-25 teams, including victories over Florida State (5), Auburn (2), Miami (FL) (2), Virginia Tech (2), Georgia (1), Louisiana State (1), Ohio State (1), and Tennessee (1), during his tenure in Tigertown. That includes 10 top-25 wins as a head coach.

Swinney coached his wide receiver position to a level of consistency that had not been seen previously at Clemson. He had a wideout finish first or second in the ACC in catches in five of his six years as an assistant coach. In his first year, he had three of the top-10 receivers in the ACC, a first in Tiger history. He has coached a First or Second-Team All-ACC wideout (Derrick Hamilton, Aïrese Currie, Chansi Stuckey, Aaron Kelly, Jacoby Ford, Watkins, Hopkins) in 10 of his 11 seasons at Clemson, also an unprecedented feat at Clemson.

In 2004 and 2005, he coached the ACC reception champion (Currie (2004), Stuckey (2005)). It was the first time Clemson had two different players lead the ACC in receptions in consecutive years. In 2007, Kelly led the ACC in yards, giving Swinney an ACC receiving king three out of four years. Stuckey earned First-Team All-ACC honors in back-to-back years, a first for a Tiger wide receiver in 25 years.

The play of Swinney's wide receivers was a big reason Clemson led the ACC in total offense, rushing offense, and scoring offense during the 2006 season, just the second time an ACC team led the conference in all three categories during the previous 25 seasons. The Tigers also led the league and set school records for yards per play (6.5) and touchdowns (55).

In 2007, Swinney coached Kelly, a First-Team All-ACC selection who led the league in receiving yards per game and touchdown catches (11). He also finished second in receptions per game with 88 catches.

The Alabama native has a reputation as one of the top recruiters in the nation. In 2006, he was listed as the #5 recruiter in the nation by Rivals.com. It marked the second straight year that he was lauded by the website as a top-25 national recruiter. He signed 38 players in his five recruiting seasons as an assistant coach and was a major reason Clemson's 2008 recruiting class was rated #2 in the nation by ESPN.com when he signed 11 players. He was named one of the top-25 recruiters in the nation by Rivals.com in 2007 as well.

When Swinney accepted the interim head coaching position on October 13, 2008, he described his feelings as "bittersweet," because he was taking over for Bowden, who had been his first position coach at Alabama in 1989. He had also brought Swinney back to the coaching profession in 2003 and has had a profound effect on his life. Both had followed similar paths as players, as Bowden was a walk-on at West Virginia and Swinney was a walk-on at Alabama.

Swinney received a commerce & business administration degree from Alabama in 1993 after lettering three times (1990-92). A walk-on who went on to earn a scholarship, Swinney was a wide receiver on Alabama's 1992 National Championship team. He was also named Academic All-SEC along with being an SEC Scholar-Athlete Honor Roll member in 1990 and 1992.

Along with his appearance in the 1993 Sugar Bowl, his Alabama teams played in the 1990 Sugar Bowl, 1991 Fiesta Bowl, and 1991 Blockbuster Bowl. Both Sugar Bowl appearances came after winning the SEC Championship game.

After his playing career, Swinney served as a graduate assistant from 1993-95 at Alabama, where he coached in the 1994 Gator Bowl and 1995 Citrus Bowl. In December of 1995, he received a master's degree in business administration from Alabama.

He became a full-time assistant coach at Alabama in February of 1996 under Head Coach Gene Stallings (now in the Hall of Fame) and coached a total of five seasons there on a full-time basis. He was assigned to coach the Crimson Tide's wide receivers and tight ends in 1996, a season that saw Alabama win the SEC Western Division title and make an Outback Bowl appearance. The following year, he solely coached the tight ends under Head Coach Mike DuBose.

In 1998, he coached Alabama's wide receivers, a position he held for three seasons. At the end of the 1999 campaign, Swinney coached the Crimson Tide in the 2000 Orange Bowl after winning the SEC Championship game. Wide receiver Freddie Milons was the game MVP.

2014 SIGNING CLASS NOTES

- Clemson had 12 players ranked among the top 300 players in the nation regardless of position by various recruiting services for 2014 (see chart below). Quarterback Deshaun Watson was the highest rated in five of the six services reviewed, including a #3 ranking by Tom Lemming that was the best of any Clemson incoming signee.
- Watson was the top ranked Tiger by every service except for Scout.com, who had receiver Trevion Thompson as Clemson's best player with a #73 ranking.
- Watson was the only incoming freshman in the top 100 by all six services. Artavis Scott was second with four top 100 rankings and he also had one at 102.
- Four Clemson signees, Watson, Scott, Rogers and Thompson, were ranked in the top 300 by all six services.
- Tom Lemming ranked 10 Clemson signees in his top 300 for 2014. That included Watson and Rogers with top 100 rankings. ESPN.com and College Football News had nine Tigers in the top 300 for this year.

CFN Denotes College Football News

#-ranking as a prep school player

• Watson was the only incoming Tiger to make the Parade All-American team and was the only Tiger on the USA Today (second team) All-American team. Watson is the first Clemson signee to make any USA Today All-American team as a quarterback.

• Demarre Kitt, Korie Rogers, Artavis Scott and Richard Yeargin III all played in the US Army All-American game in San Antonio.

• Watson was selected for the Under Armour All-American game in Orlando, but did not play due to injury.

• Six new Tigers, three for each team, played in the Shrine Bowl in Spartanburg, SC in December, 2013. Playing for North Carolina were Trevion Thompson, Chris Register and Jabril Robinson. Playing for South Carolina were Jae'lon Oglesby, Alex Spence and Kendall Joseph.

• Six members of Clemson's signees class played in the Offense-Defense All-Star Game in Orlando in early January. Those players were Jabril Robinson, Kendall Joseph, Jalen Williams, C.J. Fuller, Jae'lon Oglesby and Cannon Smith.

• As a class, Clemson was ranked 12th by ESPN.com, 13th by Rivals.com, 15th by Bleacher Report and 18th by 247 Sports.

• ESPN.com recruiting rankings date to 2006 and Clemson has been in the top 20 in each of the nine season-ending team rankings. The eight schools to do that are Alabama, Clemson, Texas, LSU, Southern Cal, Georgia, Florida and Ohio State. Clemson's average final ranking by ESPN for the nine years it has done recruiting rankings is 12.6.

• Clemson has had a nice run in recruiting the last four years with four consecutive top 15 final rankings by ESPN.com. Clemson, LSU Florida State, Alabama, Georgia, Ohio State, Florida and Notre Dame are the only eight schools in the country to rank in the top 15 each of those four years (2011-14). Clemson is 3-1 against those schools over the last 14 games.

• Clemson had five signees from the state of Georgia who were ranked in the top 15 in the state by Rivals.com, the only school in the nation who could make that claim. Georgia was second with four among the top 15.

• Clemson's class had three of the top 25 wide receivers (Artavis Scott, Trevion Thompson and Demarre Kitt) in the nation according to ESPN.com, the only school in the nation that could make that claim. That does not include Kyrin Priester, who comes to Clemson as the number one ranked receiver in the nation among prep school players for this year by Rivals.com.

• According to ESPN.com Clemson's class has two (Cannon Smith and Milan Richard) of the top three tight end/H back players in the country in this class.

• Relatively Speaking: Cannon Smith is the son of former Clemson defensive end Bill Smith, a starter on Clemson's 1981 National Championship team. Twin brothers J.D. and Judah Davis are the sons of former Clemson All-American and College Football Hall of Fame inductee Jeff Davis.

• Tight end Milan Richard is the nephew of 1982 Heisman Award winner and former Georgia Bulldog Herschel Walker. Clemson's first game next year is against Georgia, his uncle's alma mater.

• Running back Adam Choice is the cousin of former Georgia Tech running back and current NFL back Tashard Choice.

• Clemson had three signees (J.D. Davis, Judah Davis and Jae'lon Oglesby) from Daniel High School in Clemson. Daniel High grads expected to return to the Tigers for 2014 are Shaq Lawson, C.J. Davidson, Deshaun Williams, Justin Miller and Adrian Dunn.

• So there could be eight Daniel High grads on the Clemson team this coming season. Current NFL players from Clemson include DeAndre Hopkins (Houston Texans) and Jarvis Jenkins (Washington Redskins).

• Clemson's list of 22 signees includes nine student-athletes from South Carolina, six from Georgia, four from North Carolina, two from Florida and one from Maryland. It is the first time Clemson has had signees from just five states since 2001.

• The six signees from the state of Georgia are the most for the Clemson program since the Tigers had seven sign from Georgia in 2010. It is tied for the second most Tiger signees from the state of Georgia since 1998 when the program had nine. Clemson has had at least one signee from Georgia 22 of the last 23 years. The only year Clemson did not have a signee from Georgia in the last 23 years was the class of 2012.

• Clemson had four signees from the state of North Carolina, meaning Clemson has had at least one signee from the Tar Heel state each of the last 10 years. Clemson has gotten 15 signees from North Carolina over the last four years.
